MEMBER ORGANISATIONS

ACCEPT-Association
ACCEPT, established in 1996, at a time when homosexuality was incriminated in Romania, is a human rights organization and the first Romanian non-governmental organization that defends and promotes the rights of LGBT persons at national level. The Association's mission is to improve the situation of LGBT people in the Romanian society, to decrease the level of discrimination and stigmatization for this group and, at the same time, to advocate for equal rights for all Romanian citizens. Their main objectives are defending, by all legal means, the persons whose fundamental rights and liberties, as guaranteed by the Romanian Constitution and the international treaties ratified by Romania, were infringed due to their SO or GI. ACCEPT, during the past 4 years, acquired extensive experience in monitoring and evaluating the implementation of the ECHR judgement in MC and AC v Romania.

The AIRE Centre (Advice on Individual Rights in Europe)
The AIRE Centre litigates before the European Court of Human Rights and the European Court Of Justice and has been involved in over 100 cases since the organisation was founded in 1993. Our policy has always been to offer our litigation expertise in whatever form it is needed, which may mean acting as representatives on the record, sharing our expertise on procedural and substantive law, or intervening as an expert third party in cases which we are not assisting in the representation. The AIRE Centre works to ensure that all people enjoy their rights under European Law. We provide a unique service on the interrelationship between the two European legal orders and international Human Rights Law.

THE BULGARIAN HELSINKI COMMITTEE (BHC)
The Bulgarian Helsinki Committee was established on 14 July 1992 as an independent non-governmental organisation for the protection of human rights. It is the largest and most influential human rights organisation in Bulgaria. The objectives of the committee are to promote respect for the human rights of every individual, to stimulate legislative reform to bring Bulgarian legislation in line with international human rights standards, to trigger public debate on human rights issues, to carry out advocacy for the protection of human rights, and to popularise and make widely available human rights instruments. Their current spheres of intervention are: discrimination on the ground of gender, disability, race/ethnicity, sexual orientation/belief/age, freedom of association and peaceful assembly, conditions of detention, right to asylum, protection from torture and ill-treatment. Through its Legal Defence Programme, BHC has achieved pioneering changes in the domestic legislative and policy frameworks in a number of human rights spheres. BHC is actively involved in advocating for implementation of ECtHR judgments both at the national and international levels.

FAIR TRIALS Europe

Fair Trials is a human rights organisation that works to improve respect for the fundamental human right to a fair trial. FT believes the right to a fair trial is an essential part of a just society. Despite the importance of fair trials being recognised by the international community, this basic human right is being abused day-in-day-out in countries across the globe. FT is working to put an end to these abuses, towards realising our vision of a world where every person's right to a fair trial is respected. FT relies on a global network and works on lobbying, making it a strong member for EIN. Fair Trials coordinates a pan-European network of European criminal justice experts, the Legal Experts Advisory Panel (LEAP). The LEAP is composed of representatives of over 150 criminal defence law firms, academic institutions, and civil society organizations. Fair Trials can positively contribute to the work of the EIN, providing knowledge and experience with the status of fair trial rights across Europe and helping further inform the EIN through the LEAP Working Group on Implementation of Judgments.

FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION ASSOCIATION (İFÖD - İfade Özgürlüğü Derneği)

Freedom of Expression Association (İFÖD - İfade Özgürlüğü Derneği) was established in 2017 as a non-profit and non-governmental organization which aims to protect and foster the right to freedom of opinion and expression in Türkiye. The Association was set during the State of Emergency period during which the government pressure on human rights defenders was increasing and the rule of law was deteriorating in the country. İFÖD received Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council ("ECOSOC") of UN in 2023. In short, İFÖD's overall goal is to advance the right to free expression, promote transparency and strengthen democracy in Türkiye. The association is unique in terms of working in the field of freedom of expression with a specific focus on Internet freedom, academic freedom, and freedom of information rather than focussing just on media and journalists related issues. Within the scope of İFÖD's Enhancing and Developing Legal Strategies in Freedom of Expression Related Jurisprudence programme, İFÖD provides legal assistance and pursues strategic litigation. İFÖD regularly lodges third party applications with the European Court of Human Rights in relation to ongoing cases involving Türkiye and also regularly lodges Rule 9.2 submissions with the Council of Europe's Committee of Ministers in relation to the execution of key judgments of the European Court involving freedom of expression and Türkiye. Finally, İFÖD's systematic work on monitoring and documenting Internet Censorship in Türkiye continue through the publication of its annual censorship reports since 2018.

LEGAL RESOURCES CENTER FROM
MOLDOVA (LRCM)

Legal Resources Center from Moldova (LRCM) is a nonprofit organization that contributes to strengthening democracy and the rule of law in the Republic of Moldova with emphasis on justice and human rights. Our work includes research and advocacy. We are independent and politically non-affiliated. Our lawyers represent applicants before the ECtHR in strategic litigations. We are training lawyers, prosecutors, and judges in the field of ECHR. In 2012 and 2015 LRCM published two reports about execution of judgments of the ECtHR by the Republic of Moldova. The report highlights the problems in execution of ECtHR judgments and makes recommendations for improvement of the situation. We make periodic 9.2 submissions for the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe. Since 2014, we are advocating for creation in Moldova of a domestic mechanism of oversight of execution of ECtHR judgements.

HELSINKI COMMITTEE
(NHC)

The NHC, a foundation registered in the Netherlands, sets out to reinforce and support the activities of institutions and non-governmental organizations in Europe and Eurasia for human rights protection and upholding of the rule of law. The NHC has an active role in several pan-European human rights and civil society networks. After countries in Eastern Europe joined the Council of Europe, the NHC has coordinated projects to train lawyers to submit cases to the ECtHR. The latest of these was focused on Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia (between 2016 and 2011). The logical following step is to contribute to promoting implementation of Court verdicts in national law and practice, and to work on awareness-raising about the importance of the ECHR across Europe.

OPEN SOCIETY JUSTICE INITIATIVE (OSJI)

OPEN SOCIETY
JUSTICE INITIATIVE

The Open Society Justice Initiative is an operational program of the Open Society Foundations—rather than giving grants, the Justice Initiative’s team of human rights lawyers and staff pursue legal work that supports the broader mission and values of the Open Society Foundations. Since 2007, Justice Initiative lawyers have represented scores of individuals before domestic and international courts, in cases that have sought not only to vindicate individual claims, but to establish and strengthen the law’s protection for all.

STICHTING JUSTICE INITIATIVE
Stichting Justice Initiative (SJI) and its partner organizations are dedicated to the legal protection of victims of human rights violations connected to armed conflict and counter-terrorism operations, torture and gender-based violence in the post-Soviet region. We strive to ensure that victims of such abuse have access to effective legal remedies on the domestic level, and utilize international mechanisms, including the European Court of Human Rights, when domestic remedies are inadequate. In 2018 SJI won its 200th case at the European Court of Human Rights. The work of SJI encompasses all stages of domestic and international litigation, including implementation of European Court judgments. In the latter areas, it has ensured in-depth follow-up on over 50 judgments on the domestic and international level in Strasbourg.

VALIDITY FOUNDATION
(Mental Disability
Advocacy Center) - Validity

Validity is an international non-governmental human rights organisation that uses legal strategies to promote, protect and defend the human rights of people with mental disabilities worldwide. We are a dynamic community of legal professionals and volunteers brought together by a desire to reverse injustice and segregation faced by people with mental disabilities worldwide. We act on the instructions of the disability rights movement and people with disabilities themselves. Our goal is to promote equality, inclusion, and justice for all, through the use of strategic litigation, law and policy advocacy, capacity-building, research, community mobilisation, media and a variety of other tools. We are a specialist legal resource to the disability rights movement and act as a watchdog, calling out human rights violations and pushing for change. Validity has a strong track history of expanding disability rights discourse and jurisprudence for over sixteen years. We operate at the global level as well as at domestic and regional levels in Europe and Africa.

PARTNER ORGANISATIONS

Accountability Unit (AU) is an independent NGO which advances conflict-related gender-based rights through litigation, advocacy, policy advice and mentoring. AU works with partners in countries where there is an urgent need to legally support women, girls and others facing severe human rights violations because of their gender. AU is concerned with procuring the equal and non-discriminatory promotion, protection, and enforcement of international human rights law where it relates to sex and/or gender roles. The organisation has four strategic work streams: litigation, advocacy, policy-advice, and mentoring. Those work-streams seek to advance legal accountability for gender based human rights violations through petitioning international and national legal bodies, raising awareness of gender-based harm amongst stakeholders and harmonising domestic state practice with international legal obligations. AU works primarily in the South Caucasus and the Middle East with a key focus on Turkey. The rationale for our work in these regions is two-fold: the current need for technical legal assistance to states, international organisations and non-governmental organisations operating in those regions; and the relative preponderance of violations of gender-based rights in these regions without adequate mechanisms for prevention, protection, and redress. AU joined EIN to work towards the effective implementation of decisions of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) concerning gender-related human rights violations in Turkey.

ANTIGONE

The Association Antigone was founded in 1991. It deals with the promotion of the rights and guarantees in the criminal system. Every year Antigone issues a report in which all the data collected during the volunteers' visits are disclosed. Since 2008 Antigone has been authorized to visit all juvenile detention centres in Italy. The Ragazzi Dentro website monitors the Antigone's Observatory on the Prison Conditions of Minors, where four reports on the Criminal Institutes for Minors have been published. Since 2003 Antigone has been leading a European Prison Observatory, realized thanks to the European Union grants, which currently involves nine European countries. The Observatory operates through comparative work and research on the penitentiary systems of the countries involved and does an advocacy activity with the aim to influence national and supra-national criminal and penitential policies and to strengthen human rights protection mechanisms in places of detention. In 2008 Antigone established the Prisoners' Ombudsman, a group of lawyers, practising attorneys and experts in prison law that offer free legal advice to prisoners in all Italian prisons. Antigone also created legal information desks inside prisons in various cities.

ASTRA ANTI-TRAFFICKING ACTION

ASTRA was established in 2000 as the first actor to raise the issue of human trafficking in Serbia. ASTRA applies a holistic approach to the human trafficking problem, i.e. it deals with all forms of human trafficking and all categories of survivors – women, children and men, focusing its activities concurrently on direct victim assistance and reintegration, prevention, education, public awareness raising, research and networking, advocacy at a strategic and operational level and supporting the building of a functional and efficient counter-trafficking system which fully respects victims' rights. Through EIN membership, ASTRA wants to increase its capacities to more effectively engage in implementation processes and be better and more efficient in advocating for the Government of Serbia's effective implementation of judgments. With the huge experience in the fields related to human trafficking, missing children, human and child rights, labour exploitation, as well as the experience in working with migrant population, ASTRA can contribute to the EIN with expertise, knowledge, and the experience from the direct contact with victims. Another ASTRA's strength is monitoring of trials and analysis of trial procedures and verdicts in the view of respect of victims and human rights.

HAFIZA MERKEZI (Truth Justice Memory Centre)

HAKİKAT ADALET HAFIZA MERKEZİ
TRUTH JUSTICE MEMORY CENTER

Hafiza Merkezi is a non-profit, non-governmental organisation founded in 2011 and based in Istanbul, Turkey. It aims to contribute to peace and democracy by way of uncovering the truth concerning gross violations of human rights, supporting survivors in their pursuit of justice and struggle against the impunity of state actors, and contributing to the dissemination of narratives outside of official discourse in Turkey. The work of its Tackling Impunity Program involves various activities, such as legal documentation, analysis, and publications, trial monitoring, and legal interventions as a third party or amicus curiae before national and regional courts and bodies. The Tackling Impunity Program also endeavours to build international collaborations and pursues tools and methods to strengthen the legal fight for the establishment of a more democratic rule where human rights are respected.

HIAS Greece

HIAS Greece (a branch of HIAS Inc., a New York not-for-profit corporation) provides legal services to asylum seekers and refugees in Lesvos and Athens. HIAS Greece is of the view that the judgments of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) have traditionally had a decisive impact on the protection of the rights of asylum seekers, refugees, and migrants in Europe and, more specifically, in Greece. However, with many of the identified violations remaining, or even exacerbated, HIAS Greece is convinced that civil society organizations operating in the field must step up their advocacy and engagement in the implementation processes, both in the Council of Europe and at the national level. HIAS Greece is particularly interested in contributing information in relation to the asylum procedures and the reception conditions in the Moria hotspot, arbitrary detention of migrants, including asylum-seekers, and ill-treatment and hate crime against migrants. It intends to submit Rule 9.2 submissions on cases linked to conditions of detention of asylum seekers and the access to asylum proceedings.

HUMANRIGHTS360

HumanRights360 is a civil non-profit partnership established in Greece. Its mission is to protect and empower the rights of all, with no discrimination but with special focus on the most disadvantaged and vulnerable populations. HumanRights360 is part of the worldwide human rights movement that is struggling for a world where fundamental human rights are enjoyed by all. It gives priority to addressing the most pressing human rights violations, both acute and chronic, as a prerequisite for maintaining the rule of law in our society. The organisation aims to put together greater alliances not only in Greece but also at international level, and to work in the direction of building vibrant and tolerant societies whose governments and societies reject Far-Right rhetoric, extremism, racism and xenophobia, while are accountable to and encourage participation of all the persons in their territory without discrimination. In that context, HumanRights 360 implements both service provision and advocacy throughout all of their activities.

KISA – Action for Equality, Support, Antiracism

KISA is a NGO, established in 1998, and its vision is the promotion of an all-inclusive, multicultural society, free of racism, xenophobia and discrimination and where, through the interaction and mutual respect of diverse cultures, there will be equality and respect for the rights of all, irrespective of race, nationality or ethnicity, colour, creed or beliefs, gender, sexual preference or orientation, age, inability or any other diversity. KISA's action is focused on the fields of Migration, Asylum, Racism, Discrimination and Trafficking, and it includes awareness-raising of the Cypriot society as well as lobbying in order to influence the legal and structural framework, the policies and practices in these fields. KISA is engaged in strategic litigation cases brought before national courts and the European Court of Human Rights. KISA was the initiator of the M.A. v Cyprus, series of cases to challenge the lack of effective remedies against refoulement and detention of migrants and asylum seekers and has been following the developments at national level for compliance with the Court's Judgement. In addition, KISA initiated the case of Mustafa Haghilo v. Cyprus, challenging the conditions of detention of migrants pending their deportation as being in violation of Article 3 of the Convention.

REDRESS

REDRESS

Ending torture, seeking justice for survivors

REDRESS is an anti-torture NGO based in London and The Hague that works with torture survivors to bring legal claims to obtain justice and reparation on their behalf. Our clients are often from profoundly marginalised communities – refugees and survivors of torture who find themselves with nothing, while trying to deal with the life-changing physical and psychological impact of their ill-treatment. We bring legal cases on behalf of individual victims of torture, and advocate for better laws to provide effective reparations. We combine our legal representation with other civil society techniques such as advocacy, communications, and activism to ensure there is impact after the judgment, a community behind the client, and a cause beyond the case. We seek to adopt a holistic approach that ensures all of the needs of the torture survivor are taken into account. We conduct research and advocacy to identify the changes in law, policy and practice that are necessary. We work collaboratively with international and national organisations and grassroots victims' groups.
